

PA Chapter of the American Planning Association

The PA Chapter of APA is a nonprofit, non-partisan organization for professional planners and planning officials, as well as other organizations and individuals interested in planning.

Approximately 2900 members strong, the Chapter works to promote planning at all levels of the Commonwealth through workshops, meetings, an annual conference, legislative monitoring, and public awareness efforts. Members participate with various groups with shared values and goals.

Members receive information through a bi-monthly publication, The Vantage Point, and through regular updates on the website, www.planningpa.org. In addition, the six sections of the Chapter provide local services to members and others through program meetings, local workshops and newsletters.

The PA Chapter of APA is a partner of the Pennsylvania Municipal Planning Education Institute (PMPEI), along with Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension. The Institute provides training to planning commission members, zoning officers and zoning hearing board members throughout Pennsylvania.

American Planning Association

The American Planning Association (APA) is a national organization which promotes good planning practices at all levels of community – local, state and national. APA lobbies for national planning policies and monitors changes affecting planning.

APA provides members with many benefits, including a national clearinghouse for jobs in planning, professional development through conferences and other resources; opportunities to participate in a group liability insurance program; a competitive awards program to highlight the most successful innovations in planning and the most outstanding contributions of planners; and award-winning publications.

APA offers professional planner certification through the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP). For more information about APA, please visit www.planning.org.
